Your Four Pillars

Every judgment in this report is made for one reason, Mei Ling: your own chart. The classical sources describe a name as a post-natal adjustment (後天 hòu tiān), matched to the chart a person is born with, and an adult rename (gǎi míng) is read the same way: the chart first, the name second. Born 1990-03-21 at 08:00, birth place Singapore, your Four Pillars read as follows. The year pillar uses the Li Chun (立春) boundary of about February 4.

PILLAR	STEM 天干	BRANCH 地支	ELEMENT
Year 年	庚	午	Metal 金
Month 月	己	卯	Earth 土
Day 日	乙	酉	Wood 木
Hour 時	庚	辰	Metal 金

The Day Master and its favourable element

Your Day Master (日主 rì zhǔ) is 乙 (Wood 木), reading 身強 Strong at 61 of 100. In Wu Xing terms the chart's favourable element (用神 yòng shén) is Fire 火, supported by Earth 土 (its 喜神 xǐ shén, the complementary supporting element). The chart already carries enough Water 水 and Wood 木, so both the verdict on your current name and the shortlist lean away from those.

Your Day Master is strong (身強 Shēn Qiáng), score 61/100. The classical sources describe a strong Yin Wood chart as well-resourced and ready for productive engagement: the chart can absorb pressure and produce outward without depleting. Your primary Yong Shen is Fire (火 Huǒ), the Output element that channels strength into expression rather than letting it stagnate. Wealth (Earth 土 Tǔ) is the complementary element Output flows toward, completing the productive cycle. The configurations to limit are Resource (Water) and Friend (Wood), additional support beyond what the chart already carries tends to push toward stagnation.

姓名 YOUR CURRENT NAME

The name you carry now

You entered the sound of your given name, Mei Ling, without its characters, so this page reads what sound alone can honestly carry, which is less than most people expect. In the tradition the elements, the strokes, and the 五格 grids all live in the CHARACTERS; the romanization on a document is only their echo. Two names that share the sound Mei Ling can lean on entirely different elements.

So instead of guessing at your characters, this report does two honest things. The shortlist on the next pages gives you fully aligned names, scored character by character against your chart. And the same-sound page reads every reviewed character that matches Mei Ling, so you can see exactly which characters behind your existing sound would carry your favourable element, Fire 火. If you reply to your delivery email with the characters of your current name, we will read them against your chart as well.

THE CHARACTERS DECIDE

The classical sources describe the name as worn in the characters, not the letters. Whatever your current characters are, the same-sound page shows the strongest set your sound can carry for this chart. This is a pattern, not a verdict.

What a better-aligned name is for

A rename is never urgent and never owed, so it is worth saying plainly what a better-aligned name is for. In the classical account a name that feeds Fire 火 is traditionally read as wind at the back: work seen sooner, warmth that gathers on its own, and momentum that carries from one push into the next. The tradition claims no more than that, and it needs no more; the pages that follow show what such a name looks like. This is a pattern, not a verdict.

In plain words: a name that feeds Fire 火 is chosen so your work gets seen sooner and your energy carries further.

Ten names carrying Fire 火

Here are ten two-character given names, Mei Ling, each carrying the favourable element your chart leans toward. They are yours to weigh, never a single dictated name. Every name is scored by 三才五格 (the Five Grids) over your surname 林 and the 81數理 (八十一靈動數) reading; the 人格 (rén gé, the self grid) and 总格 (zǒng gé, the whole-life grid) matter most. Below these you will also find names that pair Fire 火 with its 喜神 (Earth 土), and names carrying Earth 土 on its own. The 五格 layer is the 熊崎 (Kumazaki) 1918 system; schools differ, and it is a secondary filter under the chart's 用神. This is a pattern, not a verdict.

Names carrying both Fire 火 and Earth 土

These names hold both the 用神 (Fire 火) and the 喜神 (Earth 土, xǐ shén). The 用神 produces your Day Master and the 喜神 reinforces it, so a name that carries both leans the chart the favourable way on two counts. Many families find these the most complete choice; the pure-用神 names above remain the classical lead.

NAME	PINYIN	五行	MEANING	五格 (人格 / 总格)
------	--------	----	---------	--------------

1. 林暖恩	nuǎn ēn	火·土	暖 warm and tender-hearted; 恩 grace and kindness	人格 21 大吉, 总格 31 大吉

5. 林坦熠	tǎn yì	土·火	坦 open, honest, at ease; 熠 glittering and sparkling	人格 16 大吉, 总格 31 大吉

Names carrying Earth 土, the 喜神

These names carry the 喜神 (Earth 土) on its own, the element that shares your own phase and supports it through 比劫 (bǐ jié, same-element solidarity). In the classical order the 用神 (Fire 火) leads and the 喜神 follows, so weigh these as a further palette rather than a first choice.

HOW TO WEAR A NEW NAME IN

Read the two or three that move you aloud, Mei Ling, with your surname before them, and listen for how the tones rise and fall together. An adult name is worn in slowly: try it in a signature for a week, let the people closest to you say it, and sit with the shortlist before you decide. The chart offers harmony; the name is yours to take, and the one that feels like you is the right one.

Keep your ID-card name, change the characters

This is the signature move of an adult rename (gǎi míng), Mei Ling: your passport, ID card, and bank records carry the ROMANIZED form of your name, Mei Ling, and that form does not change when the characters behind it do. In Wu Xing terms the elements live in the characters, not in the letters, so a name can keep its sound to the world, and its paperwork, while leaning the chart's favourable way. Below is every honest recomposition our reviewed set can offer for your sound.

SYLLABLE	REVIEWED CHARACTERS	CARRY FIRE (用神)	CARRY EARTH (喜神)
Mei	none in our set	None	None
Ling	1	None	None

WHERE YOUR SOUND RUNS THIN

No character in our reviewed set matches the syllable Mei, so no same-sound composition can be offered for it honestly. The syllable Ling has no reviewed character carrying Fire 火 or Earth 土; the compositions keep it neutral at best. Where the sound runs thin, the full shortlist earlier in this report remains the stronger path; a same-sound name is the gentlest change, not always the strongest one.

No honest same-sound recomposition exists for Mei Ling in our reviewed set, and we would rather say so plainly than stretch a character to fit. The shortlist earlier in this report is the path we recommend; if keeping your exact sound matters most, reply to your delivery email and our reviewer panel will look at your syllables directly.

Your power stone

In classical Chinese gemology the stones matched to a chart's favourable element are used to support that phase. For Fire 火, the tradition reaches for the stones below. Keep one at your desk or where you rest, or hold it while you practice writing the name you choose.

A NOTE ON HONESTY

This report reads your chart with the 子平 (Zi Ping) method, grades your current name by its element fit against the chart's 用神 and by the 五格 where every stroke is on file, and matches new names the same way. Characters outside our reviewed set are disclosed, never guessed. It is offered for reflection and personal choosing, in the tradition of naming as gentle support and harmony. A name supports; it never guarantees an outcome, and it makes no medical or life claim. The 五格 and 81數理 layers are the Kumazaki 1918 system, where schools differ. This is a pattern, not a verdict.

A closing note

Every element, stroke, and grid in this report is computed, Mei Ling, never guessed. The favourable element comes from your own Four Pillars; the strokes are the 姓名学笔画 counted on the traditional Kangxi form; the grids and their readings are the classical 五格 and 81數理 tradition; and where your current name reached beyond our reviewed set, the report said so instead of inventing. We show our working so you never take the reading on faith.

A rename is a choice, not an obligation. If your current name suits the chart, wear it gladly. If you change it, the same-sound path keeps your documents and your history intact while the characters do the quiet work. Sit with the two or three names that move you, say them aloud with your surname, and choose the one that feels like you. This is a pattern, not a verdict.

*With respect, and with your chart laid open beside the name
you carry,*
